MINER W. BRUCE has been appoint ed private secretary to Senator Van Wyck, in place of Walter Seeley, resigned. Mr. Bruce has for some years past been a prominent citizen of Northern Nebraska, well known to many of our readers as correspondent of THE BER. THE Union Pacific organs crow over the admission of a BEE correspondent that "railroad facilities are good" in Frontier county. This statement, according to the crank who turns the railroad organ, is very inconsistent in an anti-monopoly journal. There is a great difference between opposition to railroads and opposition to the abuses which result from monopoly management. In common with all its readers THE BEE rejoices in every new mile of railroad ironed in Nebraska which is built by the money of its stockholders and is willing to be in the fate of the Butterworth bill in subject to the law of the state and congress, which fixes the age for rethe decisions of the courts. The Pavement Question.

To the Editor of The Bee: While a change in our city charter is the first necessary step, the question of material is really as vital, because the work of paving Omaha during the coming ten years will be great, and whatever material is inaugurated urder a general system of paving whether good or bad, must continue for many years. But few outsiders realize the amount of business done at this place. A brief mention of the different lines of mously. business successfully and profitably carried on here will give some idea Four banks, four wholesale grocery houses, two wholesale dry goods and notion houses, two wholesale hardware houses, ten live stock wholesale and retail dealers, four hay pressing establishments, two founderies and machine shops, three elevators, two lumber yards, two first-class hotels. and the usual number of small dealers and establisements, all doing a thriving and satisfactory business.

GENERAL.

Fremont, already established as first-class market for buying and selling, with free bridges across the Platte securing the Saunders and Butler county trade, with free bridges across the Elkhorn securing a large trade from Sarpy, Douglas and Washington counties, with an unbounded northwest necessarily tributary to this point, can well and justly look with pride to her place among the cities of our state.

In a few years, with her vast native neadows, and her wonderfully productive and extensive corn-fields, this place is destined to be the center of he cattle feeding and pork producing land of America. The stock men and capitalists are fast realizing this fact, and are bending every energy ad centering every effort to secure a large foothold on the lands before they are divided up into small farms.
